Profitable egg production depends on care of pullets

Profitable egg production depends to a large degree on the care the pullets receive in the fall. From proper to laying house is a big change for them.

Ventilation is of utmost importance. Pulletts just moved in from the range require plenty of fresh air and yet they must be able to get away from the wind. Avoid any sudden or extreme changes of temperature, advises Robert H. McMillan, poultry commission, Alberta Department of Agriculture.

Vices such as feather picking or cannibalism can be avoided by good management. Provision of ample feed and fresh trough water and plenty of clean fresh straw will do much to discourage this vice. Above all, avoid overfeeding the pullets. They require 3-3½ inches feed of food each, depending on breed and the shape of the house.

Indifferent routine may be employed in feeding birds for egg production. Some people feed the birds to feed practically all the grain at night, others feed it two or more times a day. It may be fed in heppers or on the litter, depending on personal preference or custom. A method that gives good results and is simple to be adapted to a particular case should only be changed in the case of great reason. A rule of the thumb estimate is to feed all the grain the birds will consume in thirty minutes at night and one-third of this amount in the morning. In this manner, the poultryman can feed his birds on a basis of their production. The exact figure will vary.

31-Gun salute for Queen Mother at Ottawa

Two military bands, a 100-man guard of honour and a 25-gun artillery salute greeted Queen Elizabeth on her arrival at Ottawa, Tuesday, November 17.

Her Majesty arrived in Ottawa by air from Winnipeg, N.Y., for a five-day visit. As she stepped from the plane she was greeted by an airman wearing was decorated by a 25-gun salute fired by members of the Ottawa 36th Field Regiment, RCA.

At the CNA Hotel, the Queen Mother's inspection was a guard of honour of 100 members of The Black Watch (Royal Highland) and the regimental band of The Royal Canadian Regiment, London, Ont. The ceremony was repeated November 17 when Her Majesty left Ottawa.

To stick your tongue out and his is considered an impolite way to greet a person by the name.

BACKACHE May be Warning

PEPPY cough syrup Concentrate due to colds

The active ingredients of time-tested French cough syrup bring fast, welcome relief from the coughing fits. You save money too when you buy French Concentrate. A bottle mixes with honey or syrup to make 16 ounces of pleasant-tasting cough medicine that's good for the whole family. Keep it ready for the very first sign of a cough.

BREAK EASILY
The secret of this new cough syrup is in the way it's made. It's so light, so easy to swallow, that the beginner should not take chances with pills or lozenges. The instructor tells him to swallow. Breaks easily and quickly, leaving a moist, tender throat.

At all druggists amount of grain to be fed depends on the condition of the birds as well as the weather. Scratch and wheat are usually fed in equal amounts. Leghorn pullets will gain about a pound in weight during their first year of laying, while the increase in weight of heavier breeds is about 2½ pounds. Most of this gain in weight comes from the first six months of laying starts. This means that pullets have not only to gain weight but to make a lot of eggs too. It takes heavy feed consumption to do this.

Funny and Otherwise

With his usual wild wonderment, a man was describing one of his miraculous escapes. "There was I," he said, "on a hill, with a blinding car. I was driving down a hill. One way I nearly killed myself. I was long enough to 'Take a long breath and blow it out.'"

A depressed-looking fellow asked him a question. "What's the matter, my dear, sir? Some odd shoulder?"

"No, thank you, I had that morning."

"Well, then, long, sir?"

"No, thank you, I got that night."

Going to the office with a headache, a man noticed that he raised his hair. "What's the matter, my dear, sir? When they say 'I'm coming'?"

Vancouver girl wins acclaim as an architectural sculptor

VANCOUVER—Miss Beatrice Lennie of Vancouver has won acclaim as an architectural sculptor with several large murals in stone to her credit.

Many people still call her a woman sculptor, but Miss Lennie, regular exhibitor at the Royal Academy in Toronto, the National Gallery in Ottawa and at exhibitions in other cities in Canada and the United States.

"They think of women as doing with pretty little figurines and things, when actually sculpturing for a living is a hard and demanding life. I spent six months in the workshop of a big construction company and the union men were shocked. They never dream an artist worked so hard."

She did a large bas-relief panel weighing six tons, depicting ideas and action in the workshop of a big construction company and the union men were shocked. They never dream an artist worked so hard."

Other work includes two sculptured panels at Vancouver's main entrance, a 16-foot sculpture in stone on the main floor of the Hotel Vancouver and a group of figures in stone on the main floor of the Hotel Vancouver and a group of figures in stone on the main floor of the Hotel Vancouver.

The slim young artist says there should be no separation among the arts. As a delicate artist she spent long hours of conversation writing stories and plays.

THE METROPOLITAN OPERA opened its 1954 season. The opener was a combination of four operas: Pagliacci, La Bohème, The Barber of Seville, and Aida. The opening night was a sell-out more than a week in advance, so opera fans Edward H. Faulkner, of Huntington, L.I., took up his vigil outside the opera house on a Friday night determined to stick it out until Monday night in order to buy a standing room ticket.

"MAD" ENOUGH TO STING — Painted tail of this Lockheed F2V Neptune waiting for take-off at Burbank, Calif., carries a real sting for U.S. Navy sub-hunting operations. Plane is dubbed "MAD RAY" for the more formal name of its equipment, "magnetic air-borne detector device," used to detect submarines.

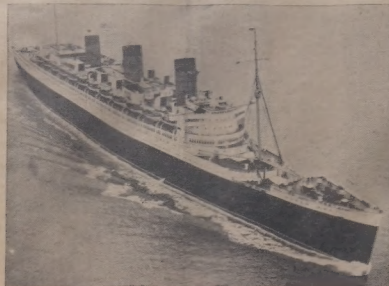

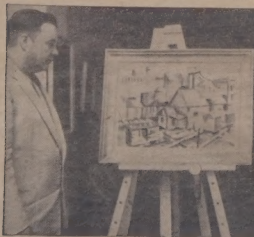

AIRBORNE "KITTY" HAS NINE LIVES — Mechanics at the U.S. Army's training grounds near Grafing, Germany, work on the "Kitty" target plane which is used to test targets during gunnery practice. Though often shot down, the sturdy craft are often repaired, and are used over and over again.

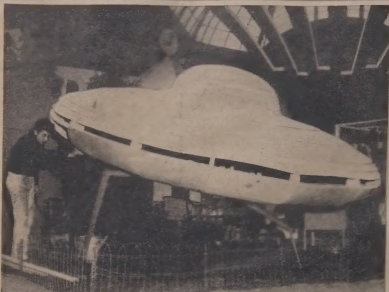

HE'S ARTIST AT FOOTBALL —

Reddy Dick MacDonald shows his artistic side on the gridiron, above, and also in canvas, as a student of the Duluth branch of the University of Minnesota. When the former O.J. punts down the pigskin and picks up the paint, he puts on 250 pounds in work painting prize-winning pictures such as the one with which he poses below, which was recently exhibited at Duluth Art Institute.

THE LINER QUEEN MARY, sailed from New York November 17 with Queen Mother Elizabeth aboard, following her Canadian and U.S. visit, into the port of Southampton.

FLYING SAUCERS "INVADE" FARES—Flying saucers are frequently the subject of newspaper stories and the topic of conversation in France these days. So it's not surprising to find a "Martian contagion" like this on display at the "Child's Exhibition" being held in the Grand Palais in Paris.

SEAGULLS FEED on the back of the 62-foot 25-ton model of "Moby Dick," the white whale created in the mind of novelist Herman Melville and brought to "life" for the making of a movie. The model, made of plastic on a steel framework, broke apart while being towed off Falmouth, Wales, October 26. It was reconstructed but became unmanageable in the heavy tidal current and was cut adrift. It was last seen heading out to the Atlantic.

MONEY TO BURN—Calm down—it's not good United States currency that Treasury Secretary George Humphrey is burning. On a Circuit Saints and Sinners Club luncheon in New York City at which Humphrey was the guest of honor and "fall guy" for the jokes of his day.

"H" NOT "WAIST" LINE — Modeled recently in New York City, this demurest silhouette in men's wear is designed to complement Dior's "H-Line" (big look) in women's fashions. Suit features a raised waistline, high front, straight, natural shoulder line (only lightly padded), double-breasted matching vest and tapered trousers.

"C" ISN'T FOR "CHERRY"—It's for vitamin C and juice of the cherry-like Acerola berries which all these tubs on a plantation at Sabana Seca, Puerto Rico, is said to yield as much as 80 times more Vitamin C than an equal quantity of orange juice. The once-wild shrubs which produce the berries are now being cultivated for their health-boost harvest.

BERNARD "BOON BOON" GEOFFRION, who is currently leading the NHL scoring race with a goals-per-game average of 13, recently scored his 100th goal in league competition. The Boomer's century came early during his fourth season in the NHL and compares favorably with the records of Gordie Howe and Rocket Richard.

COLLAPSIBLE WORLD—Folded for storage, this inexpensive globe of the world is marketed by Washington, D.C., cartographer Charles E. Sadler, who developed what he hopes will be the lowest priced globe in the world. The National Geographic Society says that mass production could make it available for one dollar or less.

NICE TIDALS—Joanne Robert is "Miss Tyrod of 1954" in Paris, France, and is prone to sit pose with a typewriter keyboard at the world-famous Moulin Rouge club, where the beauty-tying test was held.

BOLLARDS' BAMPARTS — Billed for 200 miles of sunbathing which never paid to the sea, Hugs and Dicks, they are not only as dry as dust but as resistant to catch rain. Fresh water collects in pools beneath the dunes and is piped to towns. Rocky beaches are popular vacation spots.

IMPORTANT STATEMENT

The following is taken in part from an Editorial in The Market

Examiner of Dec. 2 of last week, regarding western farmers' outlook for a substantial reduction in their present home carryover of wheat.

George Melvor's statement

this week that Western farmers could look for a substantial reduction in their present home carryover of wheat is cheering news. Mr. Melvor, chief commissioner of the Canadian Wheat

Board made the statement during a talk to the Alberta Wheat

Pool meeting in Calgary and believing in the position he is in, he should know whereof he speaks.

Mr. Melvor stated that it would be possible for the wheat board this year to take practically all of the surplus wheat off farms this year which would provide more room for handling the 1955 crop. He did caution at the same time that this would not mean an end to the surplus presently being stored in terminal and country elevators.

It does indicate, however, that the Wheat Board must be pretty certain that they will sell a great deal of wheat within the coming months. A large scale reduction of our present surplus would indeed be a big job and will probably take much longer than a few months, unless the expected pick up in world demand turns out to be much sharper than presently expected.

But a public statement of this nature by a man like Mr. Melvor is a pretty good indication of a sense of well being within the board's members — a secure feeling in the way that they are certain sales will pick up a great deal in the not too distant future.

In fact, knowing how reluctant the board is to make such statements unless they have plenty of ammunition to back them up, we would be almost willing to bet that they already have a customers for a substantial percentage of the surplus now in storage. Just who this customer is, to be truthful, whether it does exist, is a matter of pure conjecture but we feel very certain in our own minds that there is one on the dotted line.

Local and District

Bill Walters, of Delia, was a visitor in Calgary for a couple of days last week.

Mrs. V. Tiffin, of Calgary, is visiting in Delia this week, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. W.

Hubbard.

John Groat, who runs a garage at Byemore, was a visitor in Delia last Saturday, and incidental called on his old friend,

J. A. Bonner.

Mrs. G. Hands is again a patient in Hanna hospital, where she was taken on Monday of this week.

More seasonable weather prevalais, with light snow and bright sunshine during the day.

The temperature is 35 above at this writing.

Roy Harris and I. J. Olson, of Drumheller, were visitors in Delia Saturday night, and incidental attended the turkey shoot in the Legion Hall.

D. J. Waters, of the local hardware, who had been in Calgary for ten days taking treatment for an eye infection, arrived home the latter part of last week. He leaves again Friday for Calgary for further treatment.

Hey, Kids! Remember that

Santa Claus is scheduled to arrive in Delia on Saturday, Dec. 18th, at 1 p.m. He cannot bring his sleigh and reindeer along, seeing there is not enough snow, but may arrive by car, and if that fails him he certainly will use the old and reliable means of transportation — a cycled,

Shanks' mare.
